Mandrake Apothecary

Mandrake Apothecary is a woman- and pagan-owned perfumery specializing in blends evocative of the natural and esoteric realms. Our palette is composed of botanical essences (never synthetic), and organic carriers such as biodynamic spirits and golden jojoba. We emphasize aromatics that are grown and harvested sustainably, and that are organic wherever possible. Botanical perfumes have a uniquely transformative quality to them, which hearkens back to perfume's roots in alchemy. When we dab on a bit of unguent or perfume, we become the prima material in the alchemical process.
